Products We Love: A Pretty Desk Chair

May 3, 2011 at 9:00 am
 By Kate Doherty

It's time for me to admit it: I fall in love about four times a day. The objects of my affection are always good looking, solid and have four legs. Yes, if there's one thing I can't get enough of, it's chairs.

I've had my eye on this pretty number from PBteen for a while now—trust me, this is no passing fancy.

The whimsical floral print makes me smile each time I see it and I just love the contrast of the feminine colors with the shiny metal legs. Meant to accompany a desk, it'd also make a fab side chair since it's lightweight enough to pull up wherever needed.

And here's one of my absolute favorite tips to share: if you're decorating for yourself and not your kids, don't overlook stores carrying furniture for teens. They often have great looking pieces (like this chair!) that work for us grown-ups, too.
